

MMTTC History

Ursula Thrush, world-renowned Montessori lecturer and trainer, established the Maria Montessori Teacher Training Center in September of 1972. Ms. Thrush was AMI-trained in London and Bergamo, by Mario Montessori, the son of Maria Montessori, and others. She established the MMTTC so that she could continue to share with others the transformation she had experienced with her introduction to the Montessori mission. She also worked tirelessly to promote education for peace in Montessori training centers and classrooms around the world. Her legacy lives on in her brilliant curricula, which have maintained their relevance for over forty years. This work, combined with the original curricula of Dr. Rebecca Keith, MMTTC Co-Director, are the foundation for the MMTTC training.

“Adults who set out to educate children must, at the same time, be willing to educate themselves.” -Ursula Thrush

Primary (3-6) Training

The Primary course is a two-year, part-time course which prepares adults to teach children, between the ages of 2 ½ and 6, in a Montessori environment. It is designed to be an interactive study based on Montessori's vision for lifelong learning, utilizing all her materials and methodologies, integrated with current research in child development and early childhood education.

Why Train with Us?

Awareness of and interest in Montessori education is growing. It's our goal to support this growth and vision by putting well-developed teachers into the classrooms. Because our training program is small in size, we offer a more intimate setting that leads to deeper learning and the formation of lasting professional relationships in the Montessori community. We develop more confident teachers because of our focus on adult transformation and communication skills. Growing and nurturing non-violent communication skills is a strength of our program. Our graduates are ready to lead a classroom or jump into a teaching team.
